D.O. Valencia.

Winemaking in the northern part of Valencia region - spelled València in the local language, and also known by Spaniards as the Comunidad Valenciana- is dominated by old growing areas around Valencia, Spain's third largest city. Their reds, rosés and whites include famed dessert wines from a variety of grapes grown in four distinct subzones. The region of Valencia is also well known for its excellent Cavas. Each has its own wine-making traditions.

Thanks to centuries of export through the city's port, production here is more strongly focused on markets outside Spain than those at home, which has worked as an impetus to keep quality high throughout the 20th century.

D.O. Utiel Requena

Located in the western part of the Valencia Region, this is the largest and the most homogeneous inland of this area's three D.O.'s. It is named after two neighbouring towns, Utiel and Requena.

Today it is establishing its own identity, promoting the Bobal grape, and at the same time, producers are learning to take maximum advantage of the excellent growing conditions, particularly well adapted to organic vineyards. In addition, the area has attracted increased investment in new, well-equipped bodegas and replanted varieties. As a result, red wines are now being made up to Gran Reserva level.

D.O. Alicante

In the last ten years, Alicante D.O. has been winning respect for its new light, fresh wines and interesting varietal reds produced by pioneering bodegas.

The winelands divide between two contrasting areas . The largest one is the arid valley of the Rio Vinalopó, which stretches behind Alicante city (also called Alacant in Valencian dialect). Here the Monastrell grape shares the vineyards with new varieties. The second smaller one, incorporated into the D.O. in 1987, is La Marina, on the northern coast, where Moscatel grapes flourish in the warm, humid climate.

ID “Vinos de la Tierra de Castellón” [ID: Geographic Indication]

For about five hundred years, from the 15th to mid 20th Century, vines were the most extensive and nearly exclusive crop in the lands of the current province of Castellón. Pests and specially filoxera ended with vines, wines and tragically bankrupted that agro industry. In the last 40 years, land and wine lovers have retaken cultivation and production, using modern methods and techniques with the application of rigorous quality control parameters for their wines.

THE WINERY

Located in the beautiful village of Les Useres, within the county of Alcalatén, in the province of Castellón (region of Valencia, Spain). In 2003, the regional Government of Valencia created the Geographical Indication of “Vino de la Tierra de Castellón” within which our company is the main producer. We are awaiting the creation of the “D.O. Denominación de Origen Castellón” which is expected to be approved in the upcoming months.

Our newly updated winemaking facilities, together with our stock of American oak barrels accommodate our winery’s processes for the growing demands for our range of red, white and rosé wines under the L’ALCALATÉN brand .

Our wines are made from diverse Spanish grapes such as Tempranillo, Monastrell or Macabeo, as well as Bonicaire, a unique cepage from Castellón. Also, our corks come from certified sustainable cork-tree forests from our own region (our corks are stamped with the FSC label).

THE WINERY

Bocopa is one of the largest organic wine producers in the world with 40% of all production in the Alicante region. Their main brands are Marina Alta, Laudum, Terreta Rosé, Alcanta, Castillo de Alicante, Dulce Negra, Sol de Alicante y Orujo de Marina Alta, Fondillon Alone. Their wines can be found at El Corte Inglés, Alcampo, Carrefour, Eroski, Aldeasa, Mercadona and Consum.

The selection of grapes comes from our traditional dry-land, head-pruned vineyard plots (Monastrell), choosing the plots better suited for making young wines. The other varieties are grown on trellises with support irrigation, allowing the required ripening to be reached.

Tasting Notes

It has a yellow straw colour with a metallic brilliancy shade. It has an excellent formation and persistence of the foam. Bubbles ascend very slowly creating a beautiful cord up to the surface where persistent wreaths are observed. Aromas of high intensity of mature fruit, such as the pear in syrup, combined with smoke and patisserie. In mouth it is fresh, with a pleasant carbonic and very integrated. The aromas arise again together with the mature fruit. It is sumptuous with a very long end.

THE WINERY

Our vineyards are situated in alluvial terraces of the Magro river, named "La Vega" guaranteeing a continuous flow feeding of the vines. We select the grapes especially for each wine. The harvest is done in the early morning when the yeast is fresh followed by cold maceration. Fermentation is made separately for each vineyard with temperature controlled.

THE WINERY

The vineyard is located in San Antonio de Requena, at the beginning of the central plateau of the Iberian Peninsula and our wine estate is therefore located at an altitude of some 720 metres above sea level. Such conditions make Utiel-Requena a perfect place to produce wine, boasting continental weather with a high influence as well of Mediterranean weather. Being on a plateau, sunshine is strong and abundant, allowing the vines to go through photosynthesis very well. The ground is not very fertile so we can produce good quality grapes in small quantities, allowing quality to be maintained at the highest level therefore.

Wine has been produced in this area as far back as the 5th Century B.C. and the Valencian region has always been of the key drivers of Spanish wine production.

The winery harvests at very early in the morning in order to preserve the grapes and their unique aromas and qualities in every way possible. Each of the 11 grape varieties is fermented individually. The winery has a capacity of 300,000 litres of which 140,000 are stored in concrete tanks for red wines and the rest in stainless steel tanks. By introducing concrete tanks to local wine-making practices Chozas Carrascal was a pioneer in the Valencian region. The use of concrete tanks is actually currently being studied by the Polytechnics University of Valencia given the good results being achieved thanks to the level of oxygenation provided by concrete.

All of this is coupled by an excellent and highly skilled human team of individuals working non-stop to make the dream of a family come true: to produce quality wines with their own identity and with grapes coming only from the Chozas Carrascal single wine estate.

THE WINERY

Our vineyards are based in the property "the Galtero", "the Catalí" and "the Vega". Estas property is located "d'Albaida Vall in the heat of", to the south of the province of Valencia . They belong specifically to the D.O. Valencia and to the Clariano subsector. Our 30 hectares of vine-stocks are planted at 600 meters above sea level set on the soils of the zone: white clays, as well as limy areas. Their disposition in espalier and orientation is east westwardly facilitating the perfect aeration.

Our winery combines handcrafted methods and new facilities with the latest technology and benefits on the skill of our enologist Ana Martín.
